Concepts addressed:
Communication Techniques Effective communication plays such a vital role in the teaching process, and is addressed in both

EDFN 475 - Human Relations

Participants:
- Identify and practice effective communication skills
- Identify and practice communication skills that develop effective dialogue with parents and students.
- Identify and practice effective communications skills to use in problem solving and group processes.
- Identify and practice effective communication skills for interacting with community members and community agencies.
- Identify and deal with dehumanizing biases related to sexism, racism, prejudice, and discrimination.
- Identify nonverbal communication characteristics that interfere with effective communication in respect to cultural and gender differences.

INED 411 - South Dakota Indian Studies

Participants:
- Identify and discuss communication issues that relate to cultural differences.
- Identify and practice questioning techniques for oral discussion in a classroom with a diverse population.
- Recognize and accept language differences, and promote the use of more than one language in the classroom.
- Identify community members who can serve as resources to help bridge the communication gap between parents and teachers when there are language and cultural differences.