New Undergraduate Certificate: USD Marketing Essentials

CONTROLLING STATUTE, RULE, OR POLICY
BOR Policy 2:23 – Program and Curriculum Approval

BACKGROUND / DISCUSSION
The University of South Dakota (USD) seeks permission to offer a new undergraduate certificate in Marketing Essentials for non-business majors. This certificate will use existing courses developed for the BBA marketing major, allowing non-business students to benefit from study in marketing principles, promotions, sales, and consumer behavior along with other marketing knowledge such as marketing strategy and integrated marketing strategies.

It is intended and anticipated that the primary audience will be non-business majors. Business majors with an interest in this subject area will most likely undertake a double major, with marketing as one of the majors.

USD seeks permission to offer the proposed certificate on campus, off campus (i.e., at the Community College of Sioux Falls), and online.

IMPACT AND RECOMMENDATION
This proposed certificate is composed of existing courses in the marketing curricula within USD’s Beacom School of Business.

USD does not request new state resources for the proposed certificate.

Board office staff recommends approval of the new certificate program.

4. Provide a justification for the certificate program, including the potential benefits to students and potential workforce demand for those who graduate with the credential. For workforce related information, please provide data and examples. Data may include, but are not limited to the South Dakota Department of Labor, the US Bureau of Labor Statistics, Regental system dashboards, etc. Please cite any sources in a footnote.

Almost every job in today’s world touches people and customers. In recognition of this and after discussion with the College of Arts and Sciences, an undergraduate certificate in marketing essentials for non-business majors was identified as an important option for non-business students. The South Dakota Department of Labor’s (SD DoL) list of Hot Careers includes three sales marketing related occupations for a total projected demand of 1,530, ranking highest. The sales representative occupation in the wholesale and manufacturing industry ranked third, by itself, behind heavy and tractor-trailer truck drivers and just behind registered nurses.\(^1\) Additionally, according to the National Association of Colleges and Employers, the ability to sell and influence others was one of the top 10 skills employers say they seek in potential new employees.\(^2\) The SD DoL’s Hot Careers list indicates earnings for the three sales representatives occupations ranged from $34,537 to $84,582 for those selling technical and scientific products, with an average $62,175 for those sales representatives in most demand.\(^1\)

The Marketing Essentials Certificate knowledge and skills are transferrable to any career that requires effective communication and marketing using multiple formats in strategic ways. Whether targeting consumers, other businesses, or colleagues, one’s marketing communication should revolve around a well-developed marketing strategy and a clear understanding of the audience’s needs, wants, and goals.

This certificate will assist non-business students on their pathway to enhanced occupational opportunities with solid income potential and contributes to the Board of Regents’ 2014 Strategic Plan efforts to “contribute to the state’s workforce and economic development.”

5. Who is the intended audience for the certificate program (including but not limited to the majors/degree programs from which students are expected)?

It is intended and anticipated that the primary audience will be non-business majors. Business majors with an interest in this subject area will most likely undertake a double major, with marketing as one of the majors.

6. Certificate Design

A. Is the certificate designed as a stand-alone education credential option for students not seeking additional credentials (i.e., a bachelor’s or master’s degree)? If so, what areas of high workforce demand or specialized body of knowledge will be addressed through this certificate?

N/A

(Revised 05/2019)
B. Is the certificate a value added credential that supplements a student’s major field of study? If so, list the majors/programs from which students would most benefit from adding the certificate.

Yes. This major is a value add for all non-business majors who anticipate entering the workforce. Business majors desiring this knowledge and skill set will most likely pursue a double major, with marketing as one of the majors.

C. Is the certificate a stackable credential with credits that apply to a higher level credential (i.e., associate, bachelor’s, or master’s degree)? If so, indicate the program(s) to which the certificate stacks and the number of credits from the certificate that can be applied to the program.

This certificate is stackable. All 9 credits can apply as electives in an Associate’s degree in General Studies.

7. List the courses required for completion of the certificate in the table below (if any new courses are proposed for the certificate, please attach the new course requests to this form).
